What is the purpose of the Buzz Off?

The Cranford High School Buzz Off strives to spread awareness and support for the fight against cancer. The money collected from the event will go towards cancer research charities along with the funds raised by the related Relay for Life event. The Buzz Off encourages faculty members as well as students to aid a school wide project.

How does the Buzz Off work?

Faculty members are asked by the event organizers to act as incentives for donations. Large posters resembling the example to the left are placed around the school and filled in according with each graduated line indicating a faculty member and a collected sum. When a marked amount of money has been collected, the corresponding faculty member to the total has the option to either publicly shave his or her head or receive a whipped cream pie to the face on the closest upcoming Friday.

Tips for your own Buzz Off:

- Organize faculty members so that the faculty members students most want to see shaved/pied are higher goals
- Incentivize large donations by allowing the highest donator to pie a faculty member in front of the school
- Postpone all shaving/pie-throwing until Friday after school in a public, outdoors area on school grounds even if goals are met during the week
- Ask for donations during lunch periods throughout the week and during the Friday events
